WHEN CONTROLLING

Challenge: Most RGBW strip lights require an external color control system such as DMX to provide complete color control. These systems are complex and not common in landscape lighting.

Solution: RGBW color control can easily be achieved by combining the SRP-CC with the Luxor Controller or any low-voltage lighting transformer. Set the hue, saturation, and intensity at the SRP-CC at the press of a button.

WHEN POWERING

Challenge: Most RGBW strip lights require an external 24 VDC power supply. This makes it difficult to integrate strip lights into a landscape lighting design since all landscape transformers supply 12 VAC.

Solution: The SRP-CC is powered using 12 VAC, allowing it to be used with any low-voltage landscape lighting transformer.
